

Dear SirsRe: XM Satellite Radio

I travel all through the U.S. in mountainous regions and need XM radio to get weather updates and road condition information. I am familiar with the available channels and even when traveling in major cities I am able to quickly find the information I need. I am often not familiar with local broadcast stations. Its hard to find the news and weather reports in timely manner from the local stations. I also think competition is necessary to ensure quality varied broadcasting.

Yours truly, Ralph Eslinger
